Introduction

Under data protection law, Fitzwilliam College (the 'College') is identified as the data controller of your personal data (the 'Data Controller'). The statutory data protection officer for the College (the 'Data Protection Officer') is an external person appointed by The Office of Intercollegiate Services Ltd (OIS Ltd) on behalf of the Cambridge Colleges. The Data Protection Officer can be contacted at:

12b King's Parade
Cambridge
CB2 1SJTel: 01223 768745
Email: college.dpo@ois.ac.uk

The Data Protection Officer should be contacted if you have any concerns about how the College is managing your personal information, or you require advice on how to exercise your rights as outlined in this statement.

The individual within the College otherwise responsible for data protection, and the person who is responsible for monitoring compliance with relevant legislation in relation to the protection of personal data is the College data protection lead (the 'Data Protection Lead') who is The Bursar. The Data Protection Lead can be contacted at:

Fitzwilliam College
Storey's Way

Purpose and scope

1. The purpose of this policy is to ensure compliance with data protection law in the UK: the General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR), tailored by the Data Protection Act 2018 ('DPA 2018'). Data protection law applies to the processing (collection, storage, use and transfer) of personal information (data and other personal identifiers) about data subjects (living identifiable individuals).
2. As the Data Controller, the College is subject to a range of legal obligations. For clarity, the University of Cambridge and the other colleges in Cambridge are separate data controllers, with their own policies and procedures. Sharing of personal information between the University and the colleges is covered by a formal data sharing protocol.
3. This policy applies to all staff and members of the College, except when they are acting in a private or external capacity. For clarity, the term staff means anyone working in any context for the College at any level or grade (whether permanent, fixed term or temporary) and including employees, retired but active members of staff, workers, trainees, interns, seconded staff, agency staff, agents, volunteers, supervisors, and external members of College committees. Equally, the term member includes senior members (Fellows Classes A-E; retired but active Fellows; Honorary Fellows; Visiting Fellows and Scholars; Bye-Fellows; College Officers; Research Associates, Supervisors of Studies; specially admitted Members and Associate Members) and junior members (students and alumni) of the College when they are handling or processing personal information on behalf of the College, except when they are acting in a private or external capacity.

4. This policy should be read in conjunction with:
 - a) College Statutes, Ordinances and Regulations;
 - b) College data protection statements;
 - c) staff employment contracts and comparable documents (which outline confidentiality obligations when processing information of the College); and
 - d) policies, procedures and terms of conditions of the College and, where relevant, similar documents of the University of Cambridge with regard to:
 - o information security;
 - o acceptable use of IT facilities (including use of personal devices);
 - o records management and retention;
 - o any other contractual obligations on the College or the individual which impose confidentiality or information management obligations (which may at times exceed those of College policies with respect to storage or security requirements – e.g. for funded research).
5. This policy is reviewed by the College Committee and approved by the Governing Body. It is reviewed at least once every three years. The Governing Body remains responsible for ensuring appropriate resources are in place to achieve compliance with data protection law in line with an appropriate overall risk profile.

Obligations of the College

6. The College upholds data protection law as part of everyday working practices, through:
 - a) ensuring all personal information (see Annex) is managed appropriately through this policy;
 - b) understanding, and applying as necessary, the data protection principles (see Annex) when processing personal information;
 - c) understanding, and fulfilling as necessary, the rights given to data subjects (see Annex) under data protection law;
 - d) understanding, and implementing as necessary, the College's accountability obligations (see Annex) under data protection law; and
 - e) the publication of data protection statements outlining the details of its personal data processing in a clear and transparent manner. Changes and additions to these statements will be notified to Governing Body via the College Committee as they arise. (see <https://www.fitz.cam.ac.uk/about/official-information/data-protection>).
7. The Data Protection Officer, will be responsible for:
 - a) monitoring and auditing the College's compliance with its obligations under data protection law, especially its overall risk profile, and reporting on such annually to the College;
 - b) advising the College on all aspects of its compliance with data protection law;

- c) acting as the College's standard point of contact with the Information Commissioner's Office with regard to data protection law, including in the case of personal data breaches; and
- d) acting as an available point of contact for complaints from data subjects.

8. The College Data Protection Lead will be responsible for:
- a) acting as a point of contact and manage all data subject access requests and data subject rights requests;
 - b) acting as the point of contact, to cooperate and liaise with the Data Protection Officer, the Information Commissioner's Office and Police as required;
 - c) identifying, implementing and regularly reviewing mitigating measures to reduce the risk of data breaches occurring;
 - d) ensuring all members and staff are aware of this policy and associated procedures and notes of guidance relating to data protection compliance;
 - e) providing training as appropriate and regularly reviewing its procedures and processes to ensure they are fit for purpose; and
 - f) maintaining records of its information assets.

9. Individual members and staff are responsible for:
- a) completing relevant data protection training, as advised by the College;
 - b) familiarising themselves with relevant data protection statements;
 - c) following relevant College policies, procedures and notes of guidance;
 - d) only accessing and using personal information as necessary for their contractual duties and/or other College roles;
 - e) ensuring personal information they have access to is not disclosed unnecessarily or inappropriately;
 - f) where identified, reporting personal data breaches, and co-operating with College authorities to address them; and
 - g) on leaving the College, only deleting, copying or removing personal information as agreed with the College and as appropriate.

Non-observance of the responsibilities in paragraph 9 may result in disciplinary action against individual members or staff.

10. The obligations outlined above do not waive any personal liability for individual criminal offences for the wilful misuse of personal data under data protection legislation.

Annex

Legal Definition of personal information

Personal information is defined as data or other information about a living person who may be identified from it or combined with other data or information held. Some “special category data” (formerly sensitive personal data) are defined as information regarding an individual’s racial or ethnic origin; political opinion; religious or other beliefs; trade union membership; physical or mental health or condition; sexual life; or criminal proceedings or convictions, as well as their genetic or biometric information.

Data Protection Principles

The data protection principles state that personal data shall be:

- processed (i.e. collected, handled, stored, disclosed and destroyed) fairly, lawfully and transparently. As part of this, the College must have a ‘legal basis’ for processing an individual’s personal data (most commonly, the processing is necessary for the College to operate a contract with them, the processing is necessary to fulfil a legal obligation, the processing is in the legitimate interests of the College and does not override their privacy considerations, or they have consented to the processing);
- processed only for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes;
- adequate, relevant and limited;
- accurate (and rectified if inaccurate);
- not kept for longer than necessary; and
- processed securely.

Data Subject Rights

An individual’s rights (all of which are qualified in different ways) are as follows:

- the right to be informed of how their personal data are being used. This right is usually fulfilled by the provision of ‘privacy notices’ (also known as ‘data protection statements’ or, especially in the context of websites, ‘privacy policies’) which set out how an organisation plans to use an individual’s personal data, who it will be shared with, ways to complain, and so on;
- the right of access to their personal data;
- the right to have their inaccurate personal data rectified;
- the right to have their personal data erased (right to be forgotten);
- the right to restrict the processing of their personal data pending its verification or correction;
- the right to receive copies of their personal data in a machine-readable and commonly-used format (right to data portability);
- the right to object: to processing (including profiling) of their data that proceeds under particular legal bases; to direct marketing; and to processing of their data for research purposes where that research is not in the public interest; and
- the right not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated decision-making using their personal data.

Accountability

The College is required under law to:

- comply with data protection law and hold records demonstrating this;

- implement policies, procedures, processes and training to promote “data protection by design and by default”;
- have appropriate contracts in place when outsourcing functions that involve the processing of personal data;
- maintain records of the data processing that is carried out across the College;
- record and report certain personal data breaches to the Information Commissioner’s Office (the ‘ICO’) within 72 hours of becoming aware where feasible;
- carry out, where relevant, data protection impact assessment on high risk processing activities;
- co-operate with the ICO as the UK regulator of data protection law; and
- respond to regulatory/court action and pay administrative levies and fines issued by the ICO.
