Information request on maternity provisions for post-doctoral researchers

1. Does your college employ Junior Research Fellows, or have an equivalent paid fixed-term post-doctoral research position?

   Yes

2. If so, are such researchers eligible for maternity leave and pay? Please give details of any existing policy, and whether it has been applied in the last five years.

   Yes, the University of Cambridge provisions relating to maternity, adoption, paternity and parental leave apply. Yes, the provisions have been applied within the last five years.

3. If maternity leave is taken by a JRF or post-doctoral researcher on a fixed-term contract, is the duration of the position extended by an amount of time equivalent to the time taken as leave, so that research time and funding is not lost as a result of taking leave? Please provide any details.

Yes, in accordance to the University of Cambridge provisions, that subject to the limitations of the College Statutes, Research Fellows on fixed term appointments will normally be granted an extension of their Fellowship, and contract where applicable, equivalent to the amount of leave taken.
